Just between us, I will always remember you And today, when you're not by my side anymore there's nothing else to do but confess That I can't stand it, that I'm hating without hate

But just between the two of us we know our love is gone Wish we could go back again to days that used to be We fought a lot but even then I knew you cared for me Now we get along so well, no

Just Between the Two of Us hit number 4 on the country albums chart. In a retrospective review by Mark Deming for AllMusic, Deming wrote that the album is for "Haggard completists" and notes, "while Bonnie Owens was a good honky tonk singer, she was hardly a great one like Haggard, who seems to be holding himself back a bit musically as he defers to his spouse."

Within the California country music community, there's no arguing that Bonnie Owens married well; her first husband was Buck Owens, whom she married in 1948, and in 1965 she tied the knot again with Merle Haggard. Bonnie performed in the same band with Buck for a brief period while they were first married, and she later enjoyed a few hits as Haggard's duet partner; when Just Between the Two of ...
